Dear Dave,

I was not familiar with yout Thompson/Mit Witherspoon work and think you've done very well with it.

I began to hear those rumors more than 25 years ago and it seemed to make sense of what without it made little sense.

I'm deep in a book with the tentative title Hailer's Tales.

If you know anyone else who wants an index ask them please to send me a SASE, with three stamps if they do not mind if I fold it. This way it takes four. I'd like to save the time that saves for me because I've not the time I need for what I am and have been working on.

I did make an effort with someone down there to learn who had not gotten a copy of the book so I'd not waste any of the inadequate supply I have and have not been able to replenish in almost a month, and I did make any effort for someone down there to distribute copies of the index but got no response from either.

I'm not very able these days. And there were quote a few copies I'd intended sending and could not.

Embarrassing, too.

Thanks and best,

Jim
